The political party for people, animals and the environment

“A lawyer by profession, I’m now involved in the academic world of animal welfare and also volunteer for multiple organisations in the field. I founded the Pet Refuge Project, a charity assisting those affected by domestic abuse, specifically in relation to their animals. We share the planet and bear the tremendous responsibility of ensuring it is livable for future generations. I believe it’s imperative that animals and nature are considered when policy decisions are made, and that a local councillor can and should hold people, animals and environment in equal importance. I firmly believe that politics should be characterised by compassion, honesty, be science-led and focused on social justice for people, animals and the environment.”

Gavin Ridley

AWP Candidate for Alderney & Bourne Valley ward

As a local councillor my priorities for the ward would include:

-  Prioritising the climate & biodiversity crisis in all decision-making & ensuring space is made for nature
-  Advocating for plant-based food & drink options to be served in public settings including council-catered events
-  Campaigning for wildlife tunnels in boundaries in all new planning applications & ensuring planning decisions & advancements are made with nature in mind
-  Opposing the use of pesticides & herbicides by the council
-  Working to protect every healthy tree & hedgerow
-  Taking a compassionate but decisive approach to drug-related issues, so that our shared green spaces can be enjoyed by all
-  Working to end idling of vehicles & other traffic related issues negatively affecting schools
-  Fighting to support companion animal owners during the cost of living crisis so that animals can remain part of the family home
-  Opposing speciesism in all its forms

Let’s Create a Compassionate & Sustainable Future for All.
